FOOTBALL TEAMS PLAN BIG BANQUET

SCORE BRANDED ON FLANK
MAKES MASCOT IMPOSSIBLE
AND HE WILL BE EATEN AT BANQUET.

By the Associated Press

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 20.—The University of Texas football team will eat its mascot. The famous Texas steer will form the piece de resistance at the annual banquet to be given the football squad early next term.

A little history brings out the significance of this banquet. The colors of the University—orange and white—according to legends of the institution were adapted from the prevailing colors of the early Texas longhorn steer. In 1916 former students of the university headed by Steve Hickey, captain of the 1911 football team, secured an orange and white longhorn steer from the plains of West Texas and presented him to the students on Clark Field in the presence of 15,000 people who had gathered to see the annual A. and M. Texas football game. Texas defeated A. and M. 21 to 7 that day and university fans dubbed their steer the "21 to 7 Longhorn."

This beast proved to be a regular Texas steer—the kind that stamps and musses up the range. Neither the university campus nor the scanty yards of the various fraternity houses offered suitable stamping ground so the authorities decided to ship him to a ranch near Austin. But before he left for his new home A. and M. fans put over a stunt that promises to become a tradition in Texas college circles. Custodians of the mascot steer awoke one morning to find that A. and M. students had branded "1-30" the score by which A. and M. had defeated Texas the previous year, upon the flanks of their charge. Naturally this hastened his shipment to the ranch, where he has remained.

The animal has proved a burdensome pet and the score upon his flanks prevents Texas students becoming very enthusiastic concerning him, so authorities have decided to shall be eaten.

Guests at the banquet will include this year's football men, old letter men, ex students and representatives of the students' organizations. Honor guests will be Steve Pinckney, who was responsible for the steer, and members of the A. and M. band who branded him. The

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The government steamship, Buford, "The Soviet Ark", is ready to leave New York for Soviet Russia on two hours notice, it was announced this morning. She will carry on her holiday crew a greater part of several hundred radicals held for deportation at Ellis Island. Information was withheld concerning the hour for departure, but it was intimated that the ship would weigh anchor tonight or tomorrow. Three trains are bringing additional radicals here from various parts of the country. It was predicted that three hundred and fifty disciples would be called at Ellis Island before nightfall.

In addition to the several hundred "Reds" held for home deportation, warrant have already been received there for sixty-nine more for whom warrants were expected during the day.

Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman are the most notable names on the list.

"NOW LET'S HAVE SOME ACTION"

30 DEAD FROM SEA EXPLOSION

OIL TANKER OF J. A. CHANSOR

TWO MEN SAVED.

By the Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 20.—At least thirty lives were lost when the oil tanker of J. A. Chanslor, bound from Portland, Ore., to San Francisco, was wrecked off Blanco early Thursday night according to the report of Earl Dooley, one of the crew, who was washed ashore from one of Chanslor's life boats near here late last night.

Besides Dooley another unidentified man was saved. According to Dooley's account, the ship struck on a wreck at 6:15 o'clock last night and broke in two a few minutes later. The after part of the ship sinking, taking about thirty men down with it. A score of the crew of fifty-one were still unaccounted for early today. After the vessel broke in two ten or twelve of the survivors succeeded in reaching the shore in life boats, Capt. Sawyer being among them. They drifted about all Thursday night and most of yesterday. On attempting to land near here, Dooley said, the boat capsized. He and the unidentified man were the only ones known to have reached the shore.

FOREST DEPLETION IS THREATENING

REMEDY LIES IN FEDERAL AND STATE ACTION, SAYS FOR-ESTER DEPARTMENT OF

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 20.—

The rate of depletion of the forests of this country is more than twice, probably three times, what is actually being produced by growth in a form serviceable for products other than firewood. Consequently, high prices of lumber are not wholly due to increased costs of production. An important factor is the ever-retreating sources of timber supply. Already the supplies of all the great eastern centers of production are approaching exhaustion, with the exception of the South, and even there most of the mills have not over 10 to 15 years' supply of virgin timber. Already the southern pine is being withdrawn from many points as a competitive factor and its place taken by western timbers. This inevitably results in added freight charges, which the consumer must pay.

These facts are called to public attention in the annual report of the forester of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, recently published. Their presentation is accompanied by a plea that the Nation adopt an enlarged program of public acquisition of forests by the Government, the States, and municipalities, and protection and perpetuation of forest growths on all privately owned lands which may not better be used for agriculture and settlement.

In the early years of the present century it looked as though the management of forests as permanent, productive properties might be voluntarily undertaken by private owners on a large scale, but since then the situation has materially changed. The need for the adoption of an enlarged program of acquisition, the U. S. Department of Agriculture points out, has become increasingly urgent. More than 20 years ago the Division of Forestry, as it was then called, offered to give advice and assistance to private timber owners who might wish to consider applying forest management to their properties. By the middle of 1905 requests had been received for the examination of private holdings, large and small, comprising in all 10,900,000 acres of land. Many of these requests came from lumber companies and other owners of extensive timber tracts. On the strength of the showing made by the preliminary examinations, a number of these large owners entered into co-operative agreements for the preparation of working plans.

But private forest interests failed to follow up the beginning, and the Government and the States, in the opinion of the Department of Agriculture, must join hands to work out a program that will correlate public and private efforts looking to the protection and proper administration of forests. The function of the Federal Government, in addition to handling the National Forests, it is suggested, would be to stimulate, guide, and coordinate State action and conduct necessary investigations regarding the best methods of forestry to assist the States in the classification of land, and to harmonize action between the different States. The States would also handle public property owned by them and they would have a further direct responsibility in connection with the protection and perpetuation of private forest lands.

With regard to the Federal attitude toward private forestry, it is suggested that the Government would work primarily through State agencies. To initiate the proposed policy, a Federal law would be necessary authorizing the Government to cooperate with the States in bringing about the protection and right handling of forest lands within their borders and providing means for such cooperation.

Sugar Control Extended For The Year 1920

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—By a vote of 50 to 12 the senate today adopted the compromise of the bill for government control of sugar during the year 1920, accepting the house amendments increasing authority of the United States Sugar Equalization Board by limiting its licensing power to June 30 next.

On the motion of Senator McNary to concur in the house amendments with the restriction of the licensing powers of the board, three republicans, Washington, N. D., Poin-dexter of Washington, and Smoot of Utah, joined nine democrats in opposition. The democrats were Gay, Louisiana; Henderson, Nev.; Ransdell, Louisiana; Smith of Georgia; Thomas of Colorado; Underwood of Alabama; Walsh of Montana, and Williams of Mississippi.

The measure now goes to the house which has already agreed to accept the senate changes.

ONAWA, Maine, Dec. 20.—Thirteen persons were killed or burned to death and many sustained burns and injuries today when a freight train collided with a special train from St. Johns, N. B., loaded with steerage passengers from the steamship Empress of France, of the Canadian Pacific Railway here. The freight train telescoped the engine and four of the cars of the passenger train and the wreckage was burned. The engineers of both trains were killed.

The bodies of 11 persons were removed from the wreckage to the snow covered banks awaiting identification.

The passengers numbered 35. The survivors were taken to a hospital at Brownville Junction in a special train which was sent from that point with doctors and nurses.

NORMAL TAKES THE FIRST GAME

TEACHERS RUN AWAY WITH OKLAHOMA CITY COLLEGE
LADS AND PLAY RINGS AROUND THEM

In an unusually good basketball game last night at the Normal Gymnasium, East Central defeated the tossers from Oklahoma City College by a score of 48-26. For an early season game, both teams showed excellent team work, goal shooting and endurance. The game started with a rush and never lagged until the final whistle brought things to a close.

After the first five minute result was never in doubt, East Central assuming the mastery and keeping it throughout. The first five minutes belonged to the Methodists, who, by means of clever passing and shooting counted five points before the locals were able to register.

There were no individual stars for East Central, consistent team work being the outstanding feature of their play. C. Roach, forward and Ingram, guard covered the floor especially well and kept feeding the ball to Tolliver and Kidd at East Central's goal. In addition to this, Roach was able to do his share of the scoring and Ingram managed to keep his opponent under cover most of the time. Vernon did excellent work at guard, doing the safety work and breaking up any number of dribbles that were started by the Oklahoma Cityans. Kidd was complete master of affairs at center, touching off the ball without fail at every toss-up. Tolliver played a steady game at forward and was able to score a number of baskets. Sherman, who relieved Kidd near the close of the game did some good work.

For Oklahoma City, Taggart and Solders were the best, the former making 12 of the visitors points.

The summary:
Field goals: Roach 9, Tolliver 8, Taggart 6, Kidd 5, Miles 1, Patterson 1, Lyons 1, Selders 1.
Goals from foul: Roach 4, Miles 4, Patterson 2. Referee: Wray; Timekeeper: Harden; Scorer: Anderson.

YOU ARE INVITED to the evening service at the Christian Church Sunday. A good program has been planned. Mr. Harrison and Mr. Holt will speak. Returned soldiers and their families especially invited. The occasion is the demobilizing of the flags.

RAILROAD ACTION AFTER HOLIDAYS

GENERALLY THOUGHT PRESI-DENT WILSON WILL NOT
HAND THEM BACK TO PRI-VATE CONTROL JAN. 1

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Congress will go home for the Christmas holidays without hearing from President Wilson as to the time for the return of the railroads, it having been announced at the White House that no message on the subject would be sent to the Capitol today. Before the announcement was made a report that the President would send a message today had gained wide circulation among senators and representatives.

The President apparently has not communicated his decision as to the ending of government control to any of the administration officials but most of them believe the roads will not be turned back by January 1. In some circles the opinion was held that the President's final decision would await action by congress on the pending railroad legislation in congress.

NEW RESOLUTION BEFORE SENATE IN PEACE FIGHT

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—A new resolution to declare a state of peace, retain to the United States any material benefits provided for in the Versailles treaty and affirm the government's general support of some practical plan of an international peace league was laid before the senate foreign relations committee by Senator Knox of Pennsylvania.

The resolution also would declare in general terms that the United States would continue its close relations with the Allies. It was understood to have the support of several republican leaders who were anxious to have the committee report it today in order that it might be brought before the senate immediately after the holidays as basis for the settlement of the entire treaty fight. Democratic members indicated that they would oppose the measure.

Mrs. Fern Wilson of Lawrence was Christmas shopping in the city yesterday.

Read This and Govern Yourselves Accordingly

Monday morning you will be permitted to make a donation for local charities for 1920. A committee will see you and give you the opportunity to help.

The committee is trying to raise a monthly budget of $500.00 for purposes of local charity. They are asking the citizens to subscribe whatever amount they may see fit to be paid quarterly in advance.

This money is to be spent at home. It is being raised to help the unfortunate of Ada. We have been paying $200.00 a month for this work, and it is not enough. It is thought that $500.00 a month will be adequate. We have been paying 2 cents per capita. This campaign seeks to raise the amount to 5 cents per capita.

The charity work of Ada has been centralized. The United Charities has been merged with the executive committee of the Red Cross. This committee will have general supervision of charity. Rev. S. B. Damron will continue as field agent of the work. Mrs. Orville Sneed will be secretary and treasurer of the work. Every penny contributed will be spent at home under the direction of home folks and accurately accounted for.

The campaign of Monday will be under the general supervision of R. W. Simpson. There will be a manager for each ward. These managers will be: Ward 1, A. M. Gregg; Ward 2, Max Levin; Ward 3, John Chapman; Ward 4, F. L. Finley. Each of these managers will have a soliciting committee for his ward. These committees will see you Monday morning after 9 o'clock.

This states the case and it is up to you. The need of this money is not guess work. Experience has taught the imperative need of this amount. The work is here to be done. The best plan has been devised that the best talk of Ada can think of. Everyone is asked to help much as he reasonably can. It's up to you.

THE REPUBLICAN PRESS

One of the reasons why the anti-treaty republican senators are worried about the outcome of their endeavors may be that the republican press is not backing them up. It makes no difference which state you pick, you find a defection from the strictest sect of Johnsonism among leading republican newspapers.

It may possibly annoy Senator Johnson to find republican journals from Oakland to Fresno opposing him, even if he disregards such papers as The Los Angeles Times. It may not annoy Senator Brandegee to find The Norwalk Bulletin and The Waterbury Republican taking a different stand from his, but it must trouble Senator Borah a little to find The Boise Statesman supporting the league. We all know enough about Boise to appreciate what that means.

As for Iowa, where Senator Cummins' speech evoked a column and a half protest from The Des Moines Register, the whole republican press, with very few exceptions, seems to be for the treaty and the covenant. Senator Capper's Topeka Capital leads the list in Kansas. In Maine it is only necessary to mention The Augusta Journal and The Lewiston Journal to show that the senators from that state have greatly mistaken their aim. The Baltimore American is one paper in Maryland out of several that might give Senator France pause, and as for Massachusetts, where Senator Lodge theoretically runs everything, there is a long list of republican newspapers from Amesbury to Waltham that take a different view.

It is needless to go through the list of states. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat is against Senator Spencer; The Jersey City Journal confutes Senator Frelinghuysen, The Toledo Blade represents public sentiment in Ohio better than Congressman Fess. The Portland Oregonian heads the list of Oregon republican newspapers that are telling republican representatives that the west wants the league. Pennsylvania, despite Senator Knox, has many republican journals that are for the treaty. Lenroot is backed up in Milwaukee by The Sentinel and from Barboe to Oshkosh by other perfectly straight republican organs.

The only question is whether the people in Washington have heard from the people at home. One thing is sure: either the republican senators are right, or the republican newspapers are, and it used to be an axiom that the newspapers knew more about what people were thinking than the senators did.

There are more than 150 notably republican newspapers in the country which are earnestly supporting the treaty and the league. Is it well to disregard them?—The New York Times.

H. G. Spaulding, editor of the Shawnee News, absolutely denies that the smell of cheese in his print shop is occasioned by the creamery sign that until recently adorned the front wall of his building. The sign has been changed and still the smell of cheese is discernable. We are inclined to the belief that the scent is occasioned by the fact that the bunch on the night side eat cheese and crackers for midnight lunch.

We found a fellow in a terrible quandary yesterday. He had an express package which he wished to send to Shawnee, and he was wondering whether he would save time by walking and taking it cross country or whether he would try to get the local company to call for it. We were unable to give him any advice that seemed to relieve his condition.

The measure of a man is usually taken when he is dead. When it was thought that President Wilson's case was serious, the whole nation gasped for breath. After all, a president of Wilson's caliber may be more important than we had imagined.

The big rain brought at least one blessing to Ada—the streets had a good cleaning, something that has not happened before since the armistice was signed.

Now that the world's series has ended, maybe the people can settle back to bed rock and breathe easy until the next strike is announced.

The State Press

When Marvin Brown gets back home and Bert Love gets the eggs off his face which missed Senator Reed at Ardmore the other night, the News man bets they will be surprised to learn that great big letters over the door announce the location of the SHAWNEE NEWS at last.

Oklahoma City Times: D'Annunzio may burn Fiume, but doubts are entertained as to the probability of his dying amid the ruins as threatened. Italy may be stirred by the fires of patriotism in the soul of their poet-warrior who is defying the world and environs, but at the distance he looks more the adventurer than the Martyr. Leonidas and his immortal Spartans did not press agent themselves so freely. Crockett and Travis and Bowie didn't advertise what they would do at the Alamo. Heroism and the advance notice have rarely gone hand in hand.

The Ardmoreite: Ole Hanson, who resigned the mayoralty of Seattle "to go fishing," as he said, has been down here in Oklahoma doing some good talking in favor of law enforcement. If Mr. Hanson is fishing for anything in this state it must be the presidency or something similar, for no true fisherman would leave the piscatorial waters of Puget Sound, wherefrom leap the halibut swordfish, the blubbery whale and the squidgy octopus, eager to get the hook—no real descendant of Isak Walton, we repeat, would forsake such fishing grounds and repair to Muskogee to fish for Kewpies in the 10-cent grab-bag at the state fair. When Mr. Hanson resigned his office we opined and stated that perhaps he was going on the lecture platform. If he is as forceful for law and order on the platform as he was in office we are for him.

Muskogee Times-Democrat: Governor Robertson says there ought to be a revision of the Oklahoma constitution. There is no doubt about that, but what the average man feels is that if we ever get at it, what assurance is there that the new one will be an improvement over the old. Everybody admits that conditions have changed until the old organic law is unwieldy and impractical in many respects, yet at the same time, who is willing to say that conditions as they exist now will hold one, two or five years from now. While we agree that the constitution needs changing, our best judgment is that right now would be a very precarious time to try to write a new and better one.

FAIN MAY BE NAMED PRICE ADMINISTRATOR

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 10.—John A. Fain, United States district attorney, may be appointed fair price administrator for the western district of Oklahoma, it was rumored yesterday. There has been no administrator since Howard E. Figg resigned from his position in charge of the entire state nearly two months ago, and except for inquiries into several lines of wholesale trade in Oklahoma City, carried on by the fair price committee, almost nothing has been done to protect or punish persons responsible for prevailing high prices. Until the amended Lacey act is passed by congress, and it is expected to be passed very soon, no action is contemplated. The new law provides definitions of offenses and penalties which, it is expected, will enable federal officers to open an effective campaign against profiteers and hoarders.

Investigators of the department of justice in Oklahoma City have obtained a considerable quantity of evidence for use in prosecuting offenders under the new law, and as soon as it becomes effective, efforts to punish the guilty persons will be begun. If the district attorney is made fair price administrator, he will have important powers in interpreting the law, as well as in enforcing it.

Cultivate the Memory.
Back of the idea of cultivating a memory is the keener edge it puts on the brain generally, which is the making of the more attractive person. Is there anything duller than a woman who is just too lazy minded to try to remember names and places and has to refer constantly to a third person for aid in telling an incident?—Exchange.

Coal Preserved by Water.
The advantage of storing coal under water, where deterioration is much less than in the air, has been amply proved. It is recognized that the gases concealed in the pores of the coal—oxygen in particular—are responsible for both heating and deterioration, and their escape should be prevented as far as possible.

Antiquity of Gloves.
Gloves are of great antiquity, having been worn in England as long ago as in Saxon times. Practically the only change which there has ever been in styles of gloves has been in their decoration. Sometimes they were richly adorned with jewels, £5 having been paid for a pair in the fourteenth century.—St. Petersburg Times.

Let a Want Ad get it for you.

The following simple recipes have no harmful ingredients and will accomplish results as well as ready mixed remedies for the same ailments.

An Astringent Cream.

A well-recommended astringent cream is made from four ounces of mutton tallow, one and a quarter ounces of glycerin, one-half a dram of tincture of benzoin, a quarter of a dram of spirits of camphor, one-eighth of a dram of powdered alum, one-quarter of a dram of Russian isinglass and one-half an ounce of rose water. The rose water is warmed in a china cup set in hot water and the isinglass is dissolved in it. The mutton tallow, which has previously been tried out at a gentle heat and added to the glycerin, is then blended with the rose water, and the other ingredients are added while the mixture is being beaten. This makes a cream which is astringent, tightening the skin, without allowing it to become flabby, as often happens when one is reducing flesh.

Receding Gums.

Good teeth are requisite for both health and good looks. Go to a dentist and have the tartar removed from under and around the gums, then use table salt on the gums several times a day. Scrub the teeth downward, never crosswise. The teeth should be cleaned before breakfast, after each meal and before retiring.

For a Slight Scar.

Spirits of camphor, touching the skin with it twice a day, will sometimes eradicate the spots left from pimples. The liquid should be gently rubbed in.

Excessive Perspiration.

Sponge off the parts affected at least once a day with boric acid; use 20 parts of hot water to one of acid. Also dust the face and neck and wherever it is necessary with a dry boric powder.

To Overcome Odorous Perspiration.
When bathing put a few drops of ammonia in the water, dry the skin well and dust with the following powder: Oleate of zinc, ½ ounce; powdered starch, 1 ounce; salicylic acid, 1 scruple.

For Chapped Lips.

To prevent the chapped lips that so frequently result from the high winds try rubbing the lips each time before going out with rose water and glycerin, mixed in the proportion of two parts of the former to one of the latter.

For the Feet.

No. 1—Wash the feet in warm water to which a little hydrochloric acid or chloride of lime has been added.

No. 2—Bathe the feet often in a strong solution of borax or in common kitchen soda dissolved in water. Change the hosiery every day.

To Remove Corns.

Salicylic acid, 1 dram; trim the corn with a very sharp knife or razor blade. Apply the acid; cover with a piece of court plaster. In three days remove the plaster and the corn will come with it. Soft corns may be cured by wrapping the afflicted toe with a soft linen rag which has been saturated with turpentine, night and morning. Care should be taken to wear shoes sufficiently wide but not too large.

Julia Bottomly

Breakfast Linen.

Colored breakfast linen is in favor. Square cloths which hang only a few inches over the edge of the table and small napkins, about 14 inches square, are either of colored linen or else are bordered with color. Some in sets show border wreaths of red roses, some show red roses with bright green leaves. They suggest breakfast sets of English china with its gay colors and stiff figures. The all-colored sets show pink, blue or yellow flowers on tan or gray linen.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND
BY DAISY DEAN

Dorothy Dalton, who is being featured in "Aphrodite," the great spectacle which is having its first run in New York, has made quite an impression upon the critics. Some of them, however, forgetting that Miss Dalton played several seasons in stock and vaudeville, have acclaimed her as a recent recruit for the footlights and promise that a future is in store for her should she decide to go on the legitimate stage. Miss Dalton's present engagement on the speaking stage may not last long, however, for Mayor Hylan has ordered the New York license department to investigate the show. The mayor's letter said in part: "Press accounts today condemn as indecent the production 'Aphrodite.' 'Consequently I believe that an immediate inquiry should be made into the character of this performance and if it is found to be offensive to the public taste some way should be found to suppress it. Immoral plays must not be flaunted in the face of the New York public.

"There is always ample support for good, wholesome productions here, but I am absolutely certain that the people of this city will not tolerate anything that borders on licentiousness."

It seems that Dorothy always picks the naughty plays. We remember one picture that even the rather lenient (as compared with others) Ohio censors would not permit.

Miss Dalton, although she achieved her fame on the screen, is by no means new on the boards for she was on the stage before entering the silent drama. Her present part in "Aphrodite" suits her perfectly. In fact, Morris Gest, the producer, was holding up the production hunting for the right type when he found Miss Dalton for the part. Miss Dalton is a Thomas H. Ince star and one of her first and perhaps one of her best pictures, "The Flame of the Yukon," was done under the Triangle banner.

Soon Dorothy will join the rest of those industrious actors who are acting under the Cooper-Hewitts by day and, behind the footlights at night. She will commence work shortly on her next Ince picture, which bears the title "White Ashes." Luther Reed is the author of the story and he is preparing the scenario from his own story. The accompanying photograph was taken just before the opening of "Aphrodite."

Buster Keaton, Too.
Stardom appears to be assailing all of the comedians these days in a manner not to be denied. First it was Al St. John who left his uncle, Patty Arbuckle, to blossom forth in his own right. Now, it appears that Buster Keaton is going to follow suit. Keaton, long a mainstay of the Arbuckle camp, succeeded St. John on his desertion.

Dorothy Dalton as she appears in "Aphrodite."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 20.—Predictions that the Senate's failure to ratify the treaty would disturb and depress business in this country and retard "reconstruction" in Europe are being fulfilled in a way that is alarming Republican Senators. The steady depreciation of foreign exchange, with its threat of curtailing the exportation of American products which Europe needs and which the exporters of this country must sell, if production is to continue, is but one effect of the treaty's defeat by the Senate. Among the signs of fear among Republican Senators who had the principal part in the smothering of the treaty is Senator Knox's proposal to ratify it now in all details, but after separating it from the covenant of the League of Nations. On its face this would not appear to be an evidence of weakness or surrender on the part of Senator Knox, but those who have followed his course while the treaty was before the Senate regard it as a concession born of conviction that further delay in ratifying the treaty will bring calamity to American business and a day of reckoning for the Republican cabal in the Senate. Senator Knox opposed not only the League of Nations but also the treaty itself. In a formal speech carefully prepared in advance of its delivery, Mr. Knox declared the provisions of the treaty to be "harsh and cruel" to the German people. Previously he had sought the passage of a resolution to dissociate the treaty from the covenant of the League of Nations. In addition to his change of view with regard to the treaty—which he is now willing to accept in all its prescriptions—Senator Knox has moved far enough from his former position to suggest that the United States become a "consulting member" of the League of Nations. Democratic commentators do not regard this as a big concession, of course, but they appreciate its importance when read in connection with the Senator's previous hostility to both the treaty and the League. No one expected Mr. Knox to reverse himself over night, or at all. He hasn't yet "about faced", but he has certainly executed a "right face"—with his eyes in the direction of a full turn. Senator Lodge continues to employ the language of opposition, but his manner is that of one who has concession in the back of his mind, in the opinion of those who have watched his recent maneuvers. In one of the latest discussions of the treaty in the Senate Mr. Lodge affected to scout the connection between the rejection of the treaty and the decline of foreign exchange, but it was apparent that he realized the result to himself and others of a popular belief that there is a relation between the two. Other Republican Senators appear to be disconcerted by the ruinous fall in the value of foreign money and forsee its effect on American business. It is believed that they are aware that if the Senate's refusal to ratify the treaty is not the sole cause, it is a principal factor in the present demoralizing discount of sovereigns, francs, lire and marks. They seem to understand that a further depreciation of Europe's money will prevent buying here and that American production will slacken and beget unemployment and financial depression in the United States. It would be too much to say that the Republicans are showing signs

AUTOMOBILES.

ARE FUNNY things.
AND YESTERDAY morning.
WE STARTED out.
ON A trip to Byrd's Mill.
AND ON the way.
MY WIFE happened to ask.
IF I could fix the car.
IF ANYTHING went wrong.
AND I told her.
THAT I knew automobiles.
FROM STEM to stern.
AND COULD fix anything.
THAT MIGHT go wrong.
AND WE got to Byrd's Mill.
WITHOUT ANY trouble.
AND AFTER a while.
DECIDED TO start for home.
AND GOT in the car again.
AND PRESSED down.
ON THE self starter.
AND THE blamed thing.
WOULDN'T WORK at all.
AND I got out.
AND LOOKED at my gas tank.
AND HAD plenty of gas.
AND LIFTED up the hood.
AND TESTED the spark.
AND IT was all right.
AND GOT back.
ON THE seat again.

AND PUSHED some more.

ON THE self starter.
BUT SHE wouldn't budge.
AND I took off my coat.
AND GOT down to work.
AND TOOK apart the carburetor.
AND IT was all right.
AND WENT over everything else.

AND GOT covered.
WITH OIL and grease.
AND GAVE it up in disgust.
AND MY wife said:
"LET ME try it."
AND SHE got over.
INTO the driver's seat.
AND TURNED on the switch.
AND PRESSED down.
ON THE self starter.
AND THE engine started.
WITHOUT A single miss.
AND WHEN I realized.

IT TOOK me ten minutes.
TO EXPLAIN to her.
THAT THE trouble had been.
IN THE accelerator.
AND THAT I had fixed it.
JUST TEN minutes before.
I THANK you.

We have been planning and working this week with the hope that we would have 500 in Sunday School tomorrow. We have been pretty close to it two or three times but have not quite reached it yet. Tomorrow is the last Sunday before Christmas and we are exceedingly anxious to have that number. Will you not make your mind up to come this Sunday and bring the whole family with you? And then any who are not attending Sunday School elsewhere we will be delighted to have you come.
We will have our Christmas tree next Wednesday night at the church and a real live Santa Claus will be there. A special program has been prepared and will be given at that time. Every child in Sunday School will be presented with a gift of remembrance and all are urged to bring something for those who are less fortunate than ourselves. We want to make it a great occasion. But do not forget to be present tomorrow and we will announce the details about the Christmas tree.

At eleven o'clock the pastor will preach on the subject, "Christ in Prophecy," and at night the subject will be, "The Spirit of Christmas."
Special music has been prepared by the choir under the direction of Prof. Pentem and will be greatly enjoyed by all who attend. We extend a cordial invitation to all to come and worship with us at any and all these services.—Clyde Calhoun Morris, Pastor.

GRIFFITH'S 'BROKEN BLOSSOMS' TO BE SEEN AT LIBERTY THEATRE

Film That Has Been Sensational Success Wherever Shown Will Be Brought to Ada Soon.
Of extraordinary interest, not only to lovers of the motion picture, but likewise to all who appreciate the highest art in its various manifestations, is the announcement of the Liberty Theatre that it has secured David Wark Griffith's superb screen creation, "Broken Blossoms," to be shown December 24 and 25. Never has a motion picture been accorded a reception comparable to the triumph that has followed every showing of this production. Newspapers have devoted column after column to its beauties and wonders. Everywhere its success has been instantaneous and it is safe to say that in bringing "Broken Blossoms" to our city, the management of the Liberty has to its credit the biggest accomplishment in artistic entertainment that we have yet enjoyed.

Mr. Griffith, it will be remembered, together with Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and Douglas Fairbanks, early in 1919 organized United Artists Corporation—popularly known as "The Big Four"—for the making and marketing of their own productions. It is through this organization that "Broken Blossoms" is being placed in the theatres of the country.

The story of "Broken Blossoms" Mr. Griffith adapted from a tale by Thomas Burke called "The Chink and the Child" which is part of that author's famous volume "Limehouse Nights". Around this story and we speak from the opinions of dramatic critics the country over. Mr. Griffith has built the most alluring, yet pitiful, beautiful, yet tragic love story ever filmed. It has become habit, almost to look upon a Griffith production as something more than a motion picture, yet even the most ardent admirers of the art of this master of the films did not dream of the wonders that he would reveal in "Broken Blossoms."

And of acting, let a word be added. Lillian Gish as "The Girl" has reached a height of dramatic interpretation the like of which has never been seen on the screen before. This little artist has labored faithfully, steadily, with an understanding marvelous in one so young, and now she comes into her full glory in "Broken Blossoms." "The Chink" displayed by Richard Barthelmess and to his work the critics have paid high tributes likewise. To the telling of the love story of "Broken Blossoms," it is said that both

Miss Gish and Mr. Barthelmess have brought a never-to-be-forgotten artistry. Donald Crisp plays the part of "Battling Burrows," the brute on whom fatherhood has been forced, and his portrayal of a difficult role with rare talent and strength, completes the triangle of chief characters in the story.

"Broken Blossoms" should prove the crowning achievement in the splendid gallery of film presentations that we have enjoyed at the Liberty. A special program has been prepared including the music which Mr. Griffith personally arranged and some of which he composed. All in all, we look forward with keen anticipation to the Liberty's presentation of the Griffith masterpiece, for a film that has been so sensationally successful elsewhere is assured of more than a hearty welcome in Ada.

THE GREATEST OF COMMANDMENTS

That the Ten Commandments are divided into two divisions was one of the first discoveries made by those who study the law of Moses. The first four commandments have to do with man's duty to God. The other six have to do with man's duty to man.

But the interesting assertion is often made that the decalog is a literary climax, that the commandments are arranged in the order of their importance, and that the most important of each division is found at the foot of that division. If that assertion be true, an interesting light is thrown on what the mind of Divinity considers the most important part of the moral law.

If the fourth commandment is the most important among the duties man owes his God, it follows naturally that Sabbath observance is more vital in the economy of the Divine than the recognition of God's superiority over other gods, or the abstinence from worshipping graven images, or refraining from taking the name of God in vain. It might possibly be that the first three commandments, concerning, as they do, the majesty of Jehovah, are nothing but empty formula in a world that fails to set apart a stated period in which to worship the creator. If the world fails to contemplate the majesty of the Creator, it is but little time till the world forgets the source of all that is good. Such a conclusion would ably supplement the argument of Beecher that "the hand that destroys the Christian Sabbath is the red hand of death, unbarring the gates of Pandemonium and letting loose on this nation the crimes and miseries of hell."

If the law of the climax holds in the second part of the decalog, then envy, denounced in the last commandment, is a greater wrong to our fellows than theft or murder or the violation of chastity. As the universal brotherhood is taught in the tremendous question "Who is my neighbor?" so is it taught with wonderful cogency in the commandment against all covetousness. The sum of man's duty to his Maker is found in the injunction to keep holy the Lord's day. The sum of man's duty to his fellows is to avoid coveting anything his neighbor may possess.

But the stern law of Exodus is humanized by the maxims of Jesus as spoken in the Mountain Sermon. The statutes of Moses are marked with a solemn, "Thou shalt" or "Thou shalt not." But the Nazarene introduces into the law a softer tint when he says, "I ought not." The old dispensation is satisfied with saying, "Thou shalt not kill." But a newer order suggests, "I ought not kill, for every man is my brother."

For two thousand years the Hebrew heard from Sinai's summit the positive commandment, "Thou shalt not commit adultery." But from another mountain came a softer voice declaring: "I ought not commit adultery, for every woman is my sister." And the second voice added, "I came not to destroy the law but to fulfill."

From the first mountain came the law under which the human race was to move onward to its ultimate achievement. From the second mountain came an interpretation of the law, better to enable the race to understand its duty and to perform that duty. And from still another mountain came the law's vindication, when on a skull-shaped hill and a cross between two thieves it was shown humanity that the law's chief purpose was to attest the universal brotherhood of man.

THE SLEEPER AWAKES

The United States senate has heard something of a coal strike somewhere in the United States. After remaining quiescent during one of the country's bitter experiences, after failing to turn a hand to help solve a tremendous problem, the old ladies of the upper house express dissatisfaction with the way better men adjusted the difficulty and have begun an investigation of the entire embroglio.

Fair enough for the old ladies of the upper house. They have demonstrated their inability to settle anything themselves. If they are good for anything (which we seriously doubt) they ought to be good at finding out how other people work. At any rate they are dealing with the coal strike as they have dealt with other crises. Shutting themselves in a bomb-proof till the barrage is lifted is the pet pastime of the mental paupers who are willing to leave a nation in extremes lest they muddy the waters of a presidential campaign.

Men who spent the war period on the back stairs with Jeremiah O'Leary are now investigating a military establishment that wrecked the greatest war machine of all time.

Men who opposed sending a single soldier to Europe are now investigating the manner in which those soldiers conducted themselves in European cantonments. Men who voted against supplying armies with shoes and commissaries are now probing into the price paid for those shoes and commissaries.

While the coal strike was on and a nation was reeling under a violent blow the senate was as voiceless as an Egyptian tomb. It did not turn a hand to help the public it is supposed to serve. But when the difficulty is settled after some fashion, the old ladies tighten up their skirts and start out to investigate everyone who lent a helping hand. Great is the senate of the U. S. A. Great also was the frog that supposed itself as big as Esop's bull.

The Yankee is said to be the shrewdest trader in the world. Still we traded the leadership of the world for the leadership of Henry Cabot Lodge.

Edith C. Johnson says that Lady Astor swept England off her feet. We don't blame her. We wouldn't want England on our feet.

Considerable relief from the print paper shortage would result from the elimination of extras, special editions, and ready print.

PHANTOM BUGLES

When the one scrap of paper I wanted was signed And I left the old pay table for ever behind I counted my finals, Two Hundred and ten, And swore that I'd never do squads right again; But the months have rolled by and my civies are old, Phantom Bugles are calling me back to the fold.

I was gloriously happy and joyously wild, When the Captain gave me my discharge and smiled "Goodby, a very good soldier you've been, Come back when you're ready to re-up again". I laughed to myself when I told him goodby, Re-up! I should say not. No! Never! Not I.

The old camp was deserted so many had gone, I fumed and I fretted, they kept me so long; The men with dependents of course they were first, Then came the skilled men but none wanted out worse, I tell you I sure was the richest of men When they gave me my finals, 'Two Hundred and Ten'.

I bought a ticket to the old home town, To home, the old burg with all its renown; I pictured myself a hero there, I'd sure make a hit with the ladies fair; I was certainly some happy when I boarded the train And hit the trail for the home town again.

I'd been to France and in mud to my chin, So I swore that they'd never get me again I'd been in the hell of the battle and raid, Gone over the top when the first charge was made But I swore that now they had settled my score War and the army would see me no more.

But now that I'm out and in civvies, and home, There's something that calls me and beckons me on; There's something that's missing and life's not so bright As I pictured it then on my last army night, I'm lonely now since the first welcome's o'er; Civies haven't the charm that they had before.

The phantom bugles are calling me back, To parade and drill and the old army pack, To life that is carefree and rugged and fine, To the pals I left soldiering back in the line; The bugles are calling and I sure have to go, Yet it's just half a year since I told 'em NO.

Villa's forces have conducted most of the border raids on U. S. frontier towns.

The Charity Cause in Ada. We want to add our voice to that of The Evening News to secure five hundred dollars a month for the cause of charity in Ada. That amount can well be used, indeed that is the minimum. There are probably eighteen or twenty families in need in our city. The survey soon to be made will reveal the exact number, perhaps. In some of these cases the people themselves are to blame, no doubt. In others the poor are not to blame. In either case they ought to be helped. Some people need to be helped to help themselves. The man at the Beautiful Gate, headed by Peter and John was set on his feet and made able to support himself. This is one of the great needs of modern charity. Others must be helped constantly. Either situation takes time, energy and money. We are sure the people of Ada will respond to this appeal. And this is a good time. Christmas is fast approaching and at this glad time we should remember the poor. Besides it is winter and the poor are suffering. Let us relieve them. Jesus came to help all the poor as well as the rich.

In connection with the Sunday Schools that are going to give to Ada charity next Wednesday evening when the Christmas exercises will be given, it will be nice for the children to bring toys which they no longer need. Other poor children who are not able to buy can be made happy in this way. These, as well as eatables, clothing and the like, can be distributed through the regular channels—the Red Cross and the United Charities, now working in conjunction.—C. V. Dunn, Minister Christian Church.

BATTLE ON RIO GRANDE NOW UNDER INVESTIGATION

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 20.—An investigation was begun today about the battle last night between American provo guard members assisted by El Paso police and Mexican smugglers on the international boundary in which two were killed, one an American private and the other a Mexican.

The Mexicans were frustrated in their attempts to smuggle intoxicants across the border and were driven back into Mexico after abandoning six sacks of liquor in the brush.

The battle occurred at the place known as "the island," a piece of Mexican land lying in the old bed of the Rio Grande river. The provo guard was surprised by the attack but repelled with rifle fire assisted by the police.

Private Embler of Hyde Park, N. C., of the provo guard was killed.

AFTERNOON COAT OF PARIS DESIGN

In this afternoon wrap of brocaded velour de laine the French designer satisfied the season's craze for monkey fur by using it to simulate panthers. The novelty fur also forms deep cuffs and a choker collar. A shoestring belt of self-material gathers the coat in blouse effect. Note the round toed, short vamped slippers with their extremely high heels which Dame Fashion says are smart just now.

ELEPHANT DIES AT THE FAIR GROUNDS

One of the elephants belonging to the "Honest Bill Show" that is wintering at the fair grounds at Ada, died last night of some malady peculiar to the elephant family. The proprietor of the show gave the elephant's hide to East Central Normal and it will be mounted and placed in the Normal museum. The carcass has been donated to Oklahoma University and will be taken at once to Norman. "Honest Bill" has made many friends at Ada since bringing his show here by reason of his courtesy and fair dealings. Both the institutions he has favored deeply appreciate his thoughtfulness.

10, 000, 000 ROUNDS FIRED BY MARINES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 20.—Ten million rounds of ammunition were fired by United States Marines on rifle ranges in the last eleven months, according to the report of the Inspector of Rifle Practice, given out today at Marine Corps Headquarters here.

This is the answer to the question. Why are Marines always crack-shots? Which has been asked over and over again by their opponents at recent military rifle matches when they saw the "sea soldiers" walk away with most of the trophies.

Nineteen thousand of the 21,000 men who fired qualified as marksmen or better. In 1919, so far, Marines fired on ranges in ten foreign countries and possessions as follows: Ireland, Siberia, China, France, Germany, Cuba, Santo Domingo, Haiti, the Azores and Nicaragua. And in 19 states, territories and possessions of our country.

KEPT HER AWAKE

The Terrible Pains in Back and Sides. Cardui Gave Relief.

Marksville La.—Mrs. Alice Johnson, of this place, writes: "For one year I suffered with an awful misery in my back and sides. My left side was hurting me all the time. The misery was something awful."

I could not do anything, not even sleep at night. It kept me awake most of the night... I took different medicines, but nothing did me any good or relieve me until I took Cardui...

I was not able to do any of my work for one year and I got worse all the time, was confined to my bed off and on. I got so bad with my back that when I stooped down I was not able to straighten up again... I decided I would try Cardui... By time I had taken the entire bottle I was feeling pretty good and could straighten up and my pains were nearly all gone.

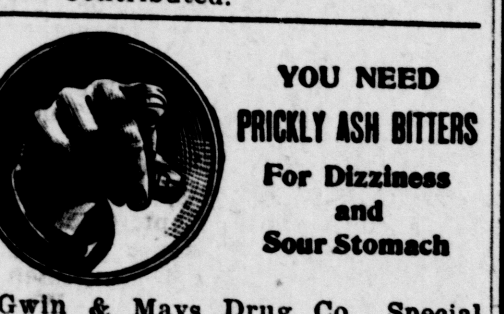

I shall always praise Cardui, I continued taking it until I was strong and well." If you suffer from pains due to female complaints, Cardui may be just what you need. Thousands of women who once suffered in this way now praise Cardui for their present good health. Give it a trial.

CHRISTIAN WOMAN'S BOARD OF MISSIONS

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Christian Church met Monday afternoon in the lovely home of Mrs. A. H. Constant on East 12th Street. Mrs. Anna Ingram sang "Teach Me to Pray," after which Mrs. Anna V. Crosau of Shawnee, state president of the C. W. B. M. work, talked to us. She has a charming personality, and this with her knowledge of the C. W. B. M. work over the state, made her message very interesting to us.

Miss Beulah Smoots gave two readings and Mrs. Perkins also read for us. Mrs. J. A. Biles, Mrs. Mooney and Mrs. Weaver, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Constant, served those present with hot chocolate and wafers.—Contributed.

AMERICAN RAILWAYS ARE BOOSTED BY DOUGHBOYS

Ask any doughboy who was "over there" and he will tell you that American railroads are the best in the world.

He saw the foreign roads—in England and France, the best in Europe—and in other Continental countries—and he knows.

The part railroads have played in the development of the United States is beyond measure.

American railroads have achieved high standards of public service by far-sighted and courageous investment of capital, and by the constant striving of managers and men for rewards for work well done.

We have the best railroads in the world—we must continue to have the best.

But they must grow.

To the $20,000,000,000 now invested in our railroads, there will have to be added in the next few years, to keep pace with the nation's business, billions more for additional tracks, stations and terminals, cars and engines, electric power houses and trains, automatic signals, safety devices, the elimination of grade crossings—and for reconstruction and engineering economies that will reduce the cost of transportation.

To attract to the railroads in the future the investment funds of many thrifty citizens, the directing genius of the most capable builders and managers, and the skill and loyalty of the best workmen—in competition with other industries bidding for capital, managers and men—the railroad industry must hold out fair rewards to capital, to managers and to the men.

American railroads will continue to set world standards and adequately serve the Nation's needs if they continue to be built and operated on the American principle of rewards for work well done.

You don't need a lot of money to buy your clothes here.

COMING

Out from the far places he comes, bringing with him the matchless treasure of his long labor.

Up from the South with "THE BIRTH OF A NATION," the most popular dramatic entertainment ever created.

Then from Babylon and glorified Palestine with "INTOLERANCE," the mightiest spectacle man ever has conceived.

Last from the Fields of Flanders with "HEARTS OF THE WORLD," the epic of the war made for the French and British Governments.

And now, from London and China, DAVID WARK GRIFFITH brings for its showing to the world
